

Prep for Success: End-of-Year State Assessments For In School & Digital Home Learners

Watch for letters from your child's school for details about the testing schedule for each grade level and content area. The testing window is longer this year allowing schools to apply social distancing, in smaller testing sessions, when possible.

Reminders for all students:

- Bring face covering
- Stay home if you have symptoms or feel unwell
- Students with accommodations will receive them for testing

Checklist for Digital Home Learners

- Confirm student immunizations are up-to-date. Not sure? Click here.
- Update Emergency Contact Information Find it on the school webpage under "Information" tab
- Complete Request for School Transportation Space Availability Form (if transportation is needed)

Can my digital home learner take the state assessments online?

No. Per the Florida Department of Education, no remote administrations are available for any statewide summative tests.

Is my Digital Home Learner required to stay for the entire school day?

No. Unless DHL students are riding the school bus, they may leave when the testing session is finished for the day.

I thought state testing was canceled.

No. Only assessments scheduled for 2020 were canceled. All public school districts in Florida are required to test students.
